

Jaime is a native New Yorker who loves to share the practical truths and power of God's Word with others. She is a speaker, counselor and worship leader. She is married to the love of her life, Steve, and they have three beautiful children. One of her favorite things to do is to cook for her family and whoever is coming over . . . good food and good conversation is one of her best-love combinations! Through several life trials, Jaime has been blown away by God's miraculous faithfulness. She is thankful for every opportunity for her life to tell HIS story of unending grace, love and victory!
